

EASTER COMMUNION

4/5/2015

During the last supper some 2000 years ago Jesus the Christ blessed the bread and wine. As a Christian tradition we know it as communion. In New Thought we look at it metaphysically.

Jesus took the bread in his hands blessed and broke it. We acknowledge this bread as Divine Substance, the wisdom and knowledge of truth that feeds the soul. Thank you Infinite Spirit for this divine substance we are about to eat. As we eat this bread today we are stirring into action the Holy Presence of divine ideas. Every piece is now charged with the living substance of Christ life. Every bite is igniting every cell of our body with this divine intelligence of God.

Jesus then took up the cup of wine, and in our case it is grape juice, and blessed it giving thanks, and saying drink of it. We acknowledge the substance of this cup as the eternal spirit of Christ that lives through our mind, body and soul transforming our very being. Thank you Divine Spirit for this living substance we are about to drink. Every drop is now ignited with the revitalizing power of the living love of Christ.

I invite you to come forward, one at a time, as you are ready, and celebrate in remembrance of the Christ of your being by participating in the eating of the bread and drinking of the juice. (Minister takes first)
